Mr. Shepard further said that any coalition upon local tickets should be open and above-board. He then presented a summary of the letters he had received and the results of the conferences he had held with many eminent Democrats. He had no use for the kind of politics that considered "knifing" at the polls. What was to be done would be openly declared. Without further debate the resolution was adopted by an overwhelming vote.

The additional resolution providing for the continuance of the delegates to Saratoga with power to act was also adopted by a practically unanimous vote at a late hour, and the committee adjourned.

At the meeting of the State Democracy leaders most important discussion was over the third ticket question, and on this ex-Mayor Grace, Mr. Fairchild and others made speeches. However, some of the speakers advised against action on the question at the State Democracy's County Convention this evening. It was admitted that Mr. Hill had been using his peculiar influences to prevent any action favorable to a third ticket, but the probability of his success in that direction was fidiculed.

William K. Olcott, chairman of the County Convention, opposed the substitute. He said that to nominate a man who might afterward be nominated for another office would bring about a state of chaos. It had been customary to hold the county convention before the local conventions, and that custom should be carried out.

Alfred R. Page said the convention should not a made the football of the friends of any candidate, and should proceed at once to nominate Mr. was elected as Congressman.

he was elected as Congressman.

The Rev. W. W. Hicks said the convention had to consider a larger question than a nomination for Congress, and that was: "Who shall best serve city, county and State, leading the Republicans and independent hosts to the overthrowing of that monster of iniquity, Tammany Hall?" He suggested that either Messrs. Bovee, Mayer, Lehmaier or Chairman Gruber should be substituted for Mr. Ouleg for Congress.

that either Messrs. Bovee, Mayer, Lehmaier of Chairman Gruber should be substituted for Mr. Quigg for Congress.

James H. Lehmaier opposed the substitute on the ground that a delay of ten days would be dangerous. It was not the voices of the people that were calling Mr. Quigg to a higher position, but those of only a few of his friends. He wanted Mr. Quigg to stand for Congress lest the Republican perty lose both that office and the Mayoralty.

Mr. Grober, having called David Mitchell to the Chair, took the floor in advocacy of adjournment. He said that Mr. Quigg was the brightest Republican in this State, and was not a man to be stabled in the back. This remark was greeted with storms of applause, hisses and loud cries of "Take it back."

Mr. Lehmeier arose to a point of order, that Mr. Gruber's remark was unparliamentary. He said: "Any man who says that any one who has spoken here desires to stab Mr. Quigg in the back is telling a faisehood." The Chair overruled the point of order and greet confusion. John Proctor Clarke appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appealed from the decision of the Chair, and the appeal was sustained.

Mr. Gruber tried to speak again, but his voice was drowned by cries of "Take it back!" "Apologice" etc. He was finally heard to say that any one who wished to renominate Mr. Quilg "wished to sidetrack him for some other candidate for Mayor."

After further debate and many motions and counter motions the substitute was adopted by a vote on rollicall of 187 to 145.

After providing for reconvening, if necessary, the convention adjourned at 11:25 o'clock.

Mr. Quigg, who was seen by a Tribune reporter, declined to discuss the action of the convention or to say anything for publication.

The result of the XVth Congress Convention

Seaman and Colonel A. P. Ketchum, A motion Charles McMurray nominated Frederick A. Schultz. The nomination was received with some applause and a good deal of hissing. A motion to close the nominations met with some objection, but carried. The chairman, Dr. E. J. Palmer, ruled that there being no second to Schultz's nomination there was only one candidate before the convention. Mc-Murray and his friends objected strongly but were overruled. Mr. Low's nomination was then made unanimous amid a demonstration of great enthusiasm which lasted for five minutes or mere, hats being thrown in the air and handkerchiefs being waved by the enthusiastic delegates. A committee was appointed to inform the nominee, and five minutes later Mr. Low came into the hall, escorted by the committee. His appearance was the signal for another outburst of applause, and the demonstration lasted several minutes. He was escorted to the platform and made a rousing speech. He proclaimed his principles to be for a protective tariff, and a strong but not meddlesome foreign policy. If the delegates were of the same opinion he accepted the nomination with the sincerest ap-preciation of the honor conferred upon him. The prospects of Republican success in the district, he said, were never so good, and he intended to win, and he would work hard for the party until Elec at the Reform Ciub, this city, last night, the tion Day. A resolution was adopted ratifying the nominations made at the Saratoga convention.

Mr. Low was born in Massachusetts, and served as an ensign in the Navy during the war. He organized the first battallon of Naval Reserves and is now its commander. He is also commander of Alexander Hamilton Post, G. A. R. He never held public office, but has always been an active Republican. He is a strong protectionist, and was one of Blaine's warmest supporters. During the Harrison campaign he made a number of speeches, and gained considerable prominence as an effective stump orator. Mr. Low is in the ship-rigging business. He lives at No. 307 Lenox-ave. The district is Democratic, and was carried by Isidor Straus by a large majority at the special election held there last February.

Andrew J. Campbell was last night nominated for ongress by the Xth Congress District convention. The convention met in Lawson's Hall, in the basement of the Lawson Bullding, at the corner of his left eyelid drop as he mentioned the rank and file.

Mr. Fairchild said that the third-ticket project had not been disposed of at the meeting, but was still open.

"It is by no means certain," he said, "that an independent State ticket may not be nominated." The remark was understood to refer to the boasts of the Tammany and Hill men, which were frequently heard yesterday, that the third ticket project was dead. No attempt was made last evening at this meeting to indorse the Hill ticket, although Snapper Democrats were loud in their predictions yesterday that a resolution would be adopted pledging the New-York State Democracy to the support of David B. Senator David B. Hill, candidate of the Democratic State machine for Governor of New-York, who arrived here on Monday evening, put in a busy day yesterday. He was hardly out of bed in the morning before his faithful minions be gan to appear at the Hotel Normandie, where he is staying. His chief henchman, James W. Hinkley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee; John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, who is to be chairman of the Campaign or Executive Committee of that committe, and Charles R. De Freest, its secretary, were the first to crave admission to his presence. He promptly sent them of his visit to this city. These were to prevent the nomination of an independent Democratic ticket by the Anti-Snapper Democracy, and to induce Judge Gaynor to accept the nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals on his ticket.

Mr. Hill had scarcely swallowed his breakfast W. Bourke Cockran, Mayor Gilroy, Colonel George B. McClellan, of the Board of Aldermen; ex-Commissioner E. L. Ridgway, Joseph J. O'Donohue, the City Chamberlain; Colonel James C. Jones, and several other Tammany men called. They were followed by Brooklyn "regulars," including James D. Mr. Hill received one message yesterday which gave him considerable consolation. It came from William C. Whitney, and, although it was only verbal. Mr. Hill was delighted with it. It assured the Democratic nominee that "there would be no independent State ticket in the field." What means Mr. Whitney would take to smash the processed nomination of the heid. What means Mr. Whitney would take to smash the proposed nomination of Charles S. One of Mr. Hill's demands upon the Tammany Democracy yesterday arcused a bitter feeling in the Wigwam. THE DILEMMA ABOUT GAYNOR. Judge Gaynor's silence as to whether he will accept the nomination is most annoying and exasperating to M. It was merely a preliminary conference to "take soundmerely a preliminary conference to "take soundings," as it were. The availability of candidates of several types had been discussed, but no names were mentioned, though a great deal had been said about the political position of the candidate of Mayor. After the State Democracy men had departed the Executive Committee continued in session for some time. On its adjournment chairman Smith said that the four confereres of the Grace organization had agreed to recommend to their Reform Club conference last night and to their County Convention to-night the appointment of regularly authorized conferrees to meet the Committee of Seventy's representatives. 'In anticipation of this action,' said Chairman Smith, 'we have already engaged Parior D R of the Fifth Avenue Hotel for Wednesday evening. We will meet the State Democracy in conference there.'

promptly, pressantly and naturally. The weak, emaciated, thin, pale and puny are made strong, plump, round and rosy. Nothing so effective as a strength restorer and flesh maker is known to medical science; this puts on healthy flesh not the fat of cod liver oil and its fitthy compounds. It rouses every organ of the body to activity, purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood so that the body feels refreshed and strengthened. If you are too thin, too weak, too nervous, it may be that the food assimilation is at fault. A certain amount of bile is necessary for the reception of the fat foods in the blood. Too often the liver holds back this element which would help digestion. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery stimulates, tones up and invigorates the liver, nourishes the blood, and the muscles, stomach and nerves get the rich blood they require.

who conferred with the Executive Committee of the Committee of Seventy at the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon, made their report. After a long discussion, it was practically agreed to recommend to the County Contention that it appoint a committee to confer with the Committee of Seventy to nominate a Union Anti-Tammany ticket. It was understood that the proposition would meet with no opposition and that an earnest and honorable effort should be made to combine with all the other opponents of Tammany Hall to overthrow that corrupt and greedy oligarchy.

The leader of each district made a report on the efficiency of his organization and arrangements were made for holding their Assembly District conventions on Saturday night, and their Congress conventions on Monday night next.

NATURALIZATION DELAYS COURT WORK THE MAKING OF NEW CITIZENS INCREASING WITH A RUSH.

The work of naturalization is now being carried on to such an extent in the County Courthouse that t interferes to a large degree with the regular business of the courts. Judge Gildersleeve, of the Superior Court, made this announcement yesterlay, and stated in so many words that it was impossible to transact the regular business of that branch of the court while he was compelled to naturalize ap-Although aliens have all the year in which to make their application for citizenship, they gen-erally neglect to do so until about six weeks before election, and then the rush continues uninterruptedly until ten days before election, and increases in such volume that two and three of the judges of the Superior Court and also of the Court of Common Pleas are compelled to give up the resular civil business that comes naturally before them. The line of the applicants for citizenship daily is increasing, and extends from the upper floor of the Courthouse through the corridors and down to the lower floor, the crowd being so great as to interfere with the free passage of lawyers and litigants throughout the building. Judge McAdam on Monday expressed himself as being glad that he was relieved from doing any more naturalization, as he is now holding a trial term of the court, and will not be again in Chamruptedly until ten days before election, and Juige McAdam on Monday expressed himself as being glad that he was relieved from doing any more naturalization, as he is now holding a trial term of the court, and will not be again in Chambers until next year, and yesterlay Judge Glidersieeve stated that if he was required to naturalization, all the applicants who presented themselves to him he would be compelled to neglect the other and legitimate business of the court that came before him. There were a number of cases down to be tried before Judge Glidersieeve yesterday, and the lawyers interested in those cases were anxious to have the cases disposed of as soon as possible, and requested that they he set down for trial for next week and the following week. Judge Glidersieeve informed the lawyers that he could not set any cases down for trial next week, because it was impossible for him to try the cases on his calendar while he was compelled to attend to the naturalizing of applicants, and hearing motions and signing ex-patre papers that were presented to him. It now remains to be seen what attempts will be made to remedy this difficulty.
